

Chief & Medical Director, Emergency Department

About the Role

Cambridge Memorial Hospital is seeking a visionary physician leader to serve as Chief and Medical Director of Emergency Medicine. In this dual-role position, you will provide both clinical and administrative leadership for our Emergency Department (ED), ensuring the delivery of exceptional, evidence-based emergency care to our community. You will partner with hospital leadership, nursing, and interdisciplinary teams to drive quality, safety, and operational excellence.

About Cambridge Memorial Hospital

Cambridge Memorial Hospital is a vibrant, full-service, 217-bed acute care hospital affiliated with McMaster DeGroot School of Medicine, located in Cambridge, Ontario. Serving the communities of Cambridge North Dumfries and Region of Waterloo, it provides a wide range of inpatient and outpatient care services, including intensive care, surgery, maternal and newborn care and mental health supports. Our Emergency Department is a high-volume, full-service unit equipped to handle a broad spectrum of acute medical, surgical, pediatric, and trauma cases. We are committed to fostering a collaborative, supportive work environment where clinicians thrive and patients receive timely, expert care. Our facility serves a diverse patient population and is deeply rooted in the community we serve.

A decade long capital redevelopment project completed in 2025, modernizing the hospital to meet the evolving needs of the growing communities it serves. With state-of-the-art patient care facilities, CMH is one of the most technologically sophisticated hospitals in the Waterloo Wellington region. CMH is also currently embarking on a journey to implement a new Hospital Information System (HIS) in the fall of 2026.
